Ho Ho Ho...Here We Go!

Happy Holidays to all of our Remington Park friends, neighbors and family!

As we wind down an epic year, we want to thank each of you for your continued dedication to making Remington Park the star of Colleyville. We have countless volunteers who ensure our flags are raised, the lights are on, the pool, ponds and common areas are spectacular, as well as our residents who take immaculate care of their homes and are celebrating this holiday season with an incredible array of lights and décor. We, like you, are proud to call RP home.

It's Travel Time!

You can't escape the news without seeing this season is the biggest travel season on record. Please remember when you travel to ensure your home is secure. It's always good to consider timers for your interior and exterior lights, as well as informing a neighbor you will be gone (to ensure Amazon doesn't stack up on your porch, your mailbox doesn't overflow, and your pool isn't screaming with leaf pileups in the skimmers – personal experience here). It's always good to keep an active looking home.

Winterizing...Oh What Fun!

As jack frost is dipping his frigid little toe in North Texas, please be sure your home is ready for whatever he must throw our way. Bring in your fragile plants, ensure your pets are cared for, tend to your pools, and double check your sprinklers to see if you have a freeze alert. If you don't have a freeze alert, please turn off your sprinklers on freezing nights. Sprinklers in freezing temps could be detrimental for walkers, runners, and drivers by your home, as well as an interesting journey on your driveway.

Falling Leaves...A Bag of Joy

As a constant reminder, please be sure to rake your leaves as they fall (or encourage your lawn team to do so). We know it is such a pain, but please stay on top of the plethora of leaves that cover our yards. First off, it is very respectful of "Next Door Bob" who rakes his on a constant basis, but it also will prevent leaves from going down our storm drains which wreaks havoc on our retention ponds (hence bagging them rather than using the storm drains as a receptacle).

The City of Colleyville is Gifting Again!

Many of you have seen our Colleyville Government has approved the $35 gift card distribution again this holiday season! They should be hitting your mailbox this week. Keep an eye on Facebook where many of our residents post the receipt of the cards. They can be used at restaurants and stores in Colleyville. It's a wonderful way to support our local businesses.

HOA Meeting – Save The Date

Our next HOA board meeting is January 9th. Mark your calendars and stay turned for the Zoom link if you'd like to attend this informative virtual meeting.

In closing, again thank you to our incoming and outgoing HOA board members and countless volunteers who make this community run so smoothly. And we thank each of you for your commitment to making RP what it is today. We hope you and your families have a safe, healthy, and enjoyable holiday season and look forward to an amazing year ahead. See you on the trails, don't forget to wave!
